I am glad to note that the second issue of Manipal Journal of Nursing and Health Sciences (MJNHS) is being released on time. Timeliness and regularity of publications, quality of papers and citations of the articles will ultimately distinguish the excellent journals from the average. MJNHS is well on its way towards excellence.

Manipal College of Nursing (MCON), is one of the best of its kind in the country. The teaching and training at the college benefit the students in their pursuit of knowledge. However, it is the quality of research that makes a larger impact on healthcare itself. MJNHS is the culmination of years of hard work and perseverance. I would wish to see this journal emerge as the best in this domain in Asia Oceania
